Some information about the Buddhist ceremony if you would like one;

Three Buddhist monks will be invited for the ceremony. The wedding ceremony begins with a prayer. First, the monks chant and then bless the bride and groom by linking their heads with joined loops of Sai Mongkon. That means that the destinies of both are linked.

The ceremony continues with the lighting of candles and incense by the bride and groom. Further chanting and blessings from the monks are made, special prayers for prosperity and good fortune are recited, followed by the cleansing ritual with light splashes of blessed water being made by the head monk.

The happy couple then present an offering of thanks and acknowledgment to the monks (provided by the resort), in the form of gift hampers, food and donations.

This ceremony has to take place before 11am.
